MELBOURNE, April 13.—The blows inflicted by United Nations airmen against the Japanese in the New Guinea area undoubtedly have "frustrated" Japan's plans to invade Australia, minister of supply John A. Beasley declared today as Australian and American pilots took an additional toll of the enemy in four new smashing attacks.

A direct hit and three near misses were reported scored on a large Japanese ship in a heavy assault on the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain. Beasley, addressing a session of the American-Australian cooperation movement, said:

Plans Frustrated
"There is no doubt the blows inflicted by Allied airmen in the New Guinea area have frustrated Japanese plans for an invasion of Australia."

Dispatches from Port Moresby, Australian base on New Guinea, said the Japanese vessel probably LONDON, April 13.—A strong force of British bombers during the night carried out heavy raids against Germany, Italy and occupied France, the air ministry announced today.

The industrial Ruhr area was the chief target in Germany, but the objectives in northern Italy were not disclosed.

Docks at Le Havre were again blasted and attacks were made on Nazi-held air-dromes in France and the low countries.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, today asked congress to enact a "national war labor policy" which would include freezing existing labor-management relations and call for creation of a special wage board.

"We are up against a long hard show and the sooner we realize it the better," the shipping czar told the House Naval Affairs committee. "If we can't lick ourselves we haven't much chance to lick Hitler and the Japs."

Land declared that freezing existing open and closed shops and other labor-management agreements for the duration would be the greatest single step congress could take.

Say Mussolini Now In State Of Prostration

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—Benito Mussolini, who has made no announced public appearances since early January, today was reported to be in "a state of complete prostration." A dispatch to the Daily Mail from a special correspondent said Il Duce had "lost all control of himself and was unable to manage affairs of state."

The Daily Mail's special correspondent said the Italian dictator had been examined by a "state specialist" who declared that the once robust and pugnacious Benito "sobbed bitterly and then burst into hysterical laughter."

The daily Mail recalled that Il Duce was reported in March to have been suffering from devastating fits of depression in which he refused to see any of his subordinates and permitted affairs of state to go to pot. As a result, said the Daily Mail, Italy is in a state of chaos.

Today Mussolini is in seclusion, according to the Daily Mail's correspondent, and spends all of his time in his study reading Virgil, Dante and the works of D'Annunzio.

Moscow Says Large Convoy Has Arrived

Reports Safe Arrival At Murmansk With War
Supplies

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, April 13.—Another large convoy of American, British and Dutch ships has arrived safely at Murmansk, the Moscow radio reported today. According to the newspaper Dagens Nyheter.

LONDON, April 13.—A battle between German bombing planes and naval vessels escorting a huge new United Nations convoy toward the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk was reported in progress today in dispatches reaching London from Stockholm.

The convoy, reportedly bearing American, British and Canadian-made tanks and fighter planes, was said to be escorted by a stronger naval force than has accompanied any train of ships along the Arctic route heretofore.

The report mentioned no enemy surface raiders but said the convoy had been attacked by German long-range bombers based in northern Norway.

(Editor's note: The Berlin wire-press reported that two freighters in a United Nations convoy had been set afire and a third damaged.)

Two weeks ago a similar convoy reached Murmansk safely after a combined British and Soviet naval force successfully fought off heavy German air and sea attacks.

American Airmen Back In Center Of Fighting In Burma

(International News Service)
CHUNGKING, April 13.—American volunteer group airmen were back in the thick of the fighting in Burma today following a daring raid on a Japanese airfield near Toungoo Sunday. They destroyed three big enemy bombers without loss.

With increased support from the U. S. pilots the Chinese armies under General Joseph W. Stilwell were reported to be holding the Japanese in check on the front north of Toungoo.

But on the western end of the defense line the British imperial troops were again under heavy pressure as the Japanese launched fresh attacks on a line 60 to 70 miles north of Prome and east of the wide Irrawaddy river.

The Japanese were reported within 20 miles of the first big Burma airfield at Yenangyaung.

Chinese military spokesmen expressed confidence that the United Nations airforces had been sufficiently strengthened to make a strong resistance to the enemy planes which have dominated the fighting in Burma for the past ten days.

Asked why the R. A. F. and the A. V. G. had been comparatively inactive recently a spokesman said:

Report President May Issue Appeal To People Of India

By KINGSBURY SMITH

Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Reports were current in diplomatic circles in Washington today that President Roosevelt may issue an appeal to the people of India to support the United Nations' war effort.

The question of what, if anything, the American government should do in view of the collapse of discussions between Sir Stafford Cripps and the Indian political leaders is understood to be under consideration by the state department and President Roosevelt's advisers.

May Make Statement
If the president should decide that it is unwise to issue a personal appeal to India at this time, there is reason to believe that a high ranking spokesman of the administration will make a statement about the middle of this week explaining America's attitude toward the Indian situation.

This explanation of America's position and the part that Col. Louis Johnson has played in the New Delhi discussions is likely to be coupled with an expression of official hope that the Indian people will rally to the United Nations' cause.

Prior to the failure of the Cripps mission to New Delhi, the president is understood to have been unwilling to intervene publicly in the Indian situation.

LONDON, April 13.—In the firmest expression of Soviet Russia's attitude toward Japan since the war began, the Communist party newspaper Pravda today warned Tokyo to respect the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact with utmost precision, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Kuibyshev.

On the first anniversary of the pact's signing, Pravda painstakingly enumerated cases of Japanese aggression and demanded that Japan respect the terms of the agreement "as the Soviet Union does."

Japan would be the first to suffer in the event of war in the north, Pravda emphasized and pointedly recalled that Japan had undertaken to cooperate with Germany in the spirit of the anti-Comintern pact.

Chairman Says President May Too Much Loafing In U. S. Shipyards

By GRIFFING BANCROFT

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Charging that "there is too damned much loafing going on in shipyards," blunt-spoken Admiral Emory S. Land, maritime commission chairman, today warned that both labor and management must increase their output 13 per cent if President Roosevelt's goal of 8,000,000 tons of merchant ships is to be achieved this year.

Testifying before the House Naval Affairs committee, Land frankly conceded that the program is behind schedule and called for congressional enactment of a "nation war-labor policy" that would include freezing existing labor-management relations and set up a special wage board.

"There is too damn much loafing going on in shipyards today," Land asserted.

"If labor and management will increase its productivity 13 per cent we'll be on schedule this year, but they will also have to increase it 25 per cent next year to meet the schedule then (15,000,000 tons of ships)."

He conceded that future production also depends on the ability to get steel, but said that the maritime commission had been promised sufficient steel by the War Production board.

On the question of labor policy, he was likewise outspoken.

Johnstown Flyer Given Promotion For His Heroism

(International News Service)

MELBOURNE, April 13.—By his heroic combat record in the Philippines, Capt. Boyd ("Buzz") Wagner of Johnstown, Pa., today held the rank of lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army Air Corps, and the discharge of being the youngest lieutenant colonel in the American air force.

The 26-year-old Pennsylvanian's promotion was ordered by Lieut. Gen. George Brett, commander of the United Nations airforce in the Australian battle theatre. Wagner's record in the one-sided battle against the Japanese during the invasion of Luzon earned him the reputation of being one of the outstanding pursuit pilots of the American airforce.

With his new rank he was slated for a highly important job under Brig. Gen. Houston George, chief of air operations in this area.

New Highway Construction In State Halted

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—All new highway construction work in Pennsylvania has been halted until further notice because of the war, Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes announced today.

Hughes said the action was taken in compliance with instructions from the War Production board at Washington. Projects actually underway on April 9 will be completed, but no new construction work will be undertaken.

Hughes said the W. P. B. instructions presumably applied also to construction work undertaken by cities, counties and other local government groups.

State Highway projects sponsored by the W. P. B. are also included, he added.

The order applies to highway work being carried out by private contractors, as well as State Highway department operations.

Maintenance work on the 40,521-mile State Highway system is not affected by the stoppage order, it was stated. The order was issued in order to conserve construction materials for war projects.

Three Battleships Head Large Flotilla Of Japanese In Ceylon Area

JAPS USING FIVE AIRCRAFT CARRIERS

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, April 13.—The Japanese force which engaged British naval units in the Indian Ocean and resulted in the sinking of the heavy cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall and the aircraft carrier Hermes consisted of three battleships, five aircraft carriers, and numerous other heavy and light cruisers and destroyer flotillas, it was revealed officially today.

One of the enemy battleships was a modernized craft carrying 16-inch guns.

It is impossible to indicate at this time, it was said, the strength of the British force in the Indian Ocean which was under command of Sir James Somerville. Neither was it disclosed what dispositions he took against the superior enemy force, but it was pointed out that nothing that has happened in any way has weakened the confidence of the admiralty in him.

During the severe Japanese attacks against Colombo and Trincomalee on the island of Ceylon, the harbors and shore establishments were damaged, it was revealed.

Damage also was done to a few ships which remained in the harbor when the Japanese attacked last Thursday.

It is quite impossible to afford continuous air protection by shore-based or carrier-borne aircraft to all British ships at sea, an official spokesman pointed out.

At the same time it was disclosed that Lord Louis Mountbatten had succeeded Sir Roger Keyes as chief of combined British operations on October 19, 1941.

On March 18, it was announced Lord Mountbatten was given the acting rank of Vice Admiral, and the honorary ranks of Lieut. Gen. and Air Marshal.

HEAVY BOMB RAIDS UPON GERMANY, ITALY AND OCCUPIED FRANCE

as fierce as any of the Nazi raids conducted during the battle of Britain, the R. A. F. appeared to be carrying the air war to the Axis in ever-increasing force.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire and snatching bomb explosions could be heard on the English southwest coast as the British squadrons pounded the German bases.

Other British planes ranged in and over the continent.

Raid Rail Communications

R. A. F. craft still were returning to their bases long after dusk, but the battering attacks against the French coast channel ports were carried out after R. A. F. planes during yesterday raided vital railroad communication lines in the Hazebrouck area of occupied France. The sky battles were described by the ministry as "some of the fiercest air fighting since the battle of Britain."

During the attack on Hazebrouck, strategic railroad connecting Calais, Lille and other points in northern France, the R. A. F. bomber and fighter squadrons encountered German fighters in strength and destroyed one British bomber and 13 fighter craft. Pilots of two of the last planes were known to be safe, an air ministry communiqué said. Four of the German ships were shot down.

Editor's Note: Extent of the continued air activity over German-controlled territory during the night was indicated in dispatches from Berlin saying that Swiss had undergone two air alerts.

Ceaseless Activity

From midnight to dawn Sunday the R. A. F. was virtually ceaseless in activity. British planes were observed throughout the afternoon carrying out sweeps across the channel to northern France. Flying in formation at a height of 8,000 feet, they crossed from Folkestone and other coastal points and headed in the direction of Calais.

Heavy explosions were heard in the direction of the French and Belgian coasts.

Editor's Note: The Nazi-controlled Calais radio acknowledged that British planes "attempted" to raid northern France and Belgium during the day. The Calais station said 12 bombers and 50 Spitfires participated but the squadron was dispersed after one Boston-type bomber was shot down and 13 fighter planes destroyed.

Then plunged across the road like a bronco and he missed the other side of the bridge. Still careening the car plunged back to the left and missed the guard rail by scant inches. Finally it straightened out. Had there been another car on the road, or pedestrians, there would have been a serious accident.

Real wintry weather prevailed Sunday and today, the temperature dropping to 23 above zero this morning, when ice froze and there was an extremely heavy frost. A year ago, the mercury was in the 70's on these dates and rose to a high of 85 degrees on April 13.

Local rivers dropped pretty fast over the week-end. The Shenango reached a high stage of 145 feet on Saturday, but by this morning it dropped down to 108 feet, and was falling rapidly.

situation because he felt that the question of India's political future was primarily a British problem.

Discussions Collapse

Now that the discussions between Cripps and the Indian leaders have collapsed, the view prevails in some quarters within the government that the way is clear for the president to appeal to the people of India to support the United Nations in resisting the Axis world movement of conquest.

Col. Johnson, as President Roosevelt's personal representative with the rank of minister, figured prominently in the final stages of the abortive political discussions in New Delhi. He is believed to have promised the Indian leaders that the United States would send substantial aid to India in the form of both men and materials if the Indian people showed determined resistance to the anticipated Japanese invasion.

Whether the American government should now go so far as to promise that the United States, in return for India's full cooperation in the war against the Axis, will support at the peace conference India's desire for political freedom is one of the questions which are believed to be under consideration. ties in one town, an air ministry announcement said. The plants came in low to drop their bombs. In one town all bombs fell in an evacuated area and caused no damage. In the adjoining town a few casualties were listed.

LONDON, April 13.—One of the best-kept secrets of the war—appointment of Lord Louis Mountbatten as chief of the daring British commando forces which have wrecked havoc on vital Nazi bases in France—was announced in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today.

VICHY, April 13.—Unidentified enemy planes were over Cannes, on the French Riviera, for the first time during the war last night, it was announced today.

Flares and several bombs were dropped, but damage was slight and no casualties were reported.

Editor's note—It was assumed that the planes were part of the vast British aerial armada which cared over Germany, Italy and France during the night.

ment and ammunition. But that situation now obviously has been remedied.

He praised the U. S. planes, revealing that a Japanese zero fighter had been shot down by a P-40, shooting away a third of one wing.

"But the A. V. G. plane was able to reach its base safely," he said. While fighting on the Tougong front was reported largely limited to artillery actions, the invaders were on the move along a broad front along the Irrawaddy.

(The British communiqué from New Delhi, reporting on actions of Saturday, said the Japanese had launched an attack from positions northeast of Taungungyi, approximately 70 miles north of Prome.)

"Further west our forces are attacking two enemy concentrations," the communiqué said. "Another enemy column is reportedly advancing up the main road from Singuawng but no details are available."

"Enemy air activity continues over our forward troops and on villages behind the lines. News has been received of successful and determined action by a detachment of royal marines operating on the Irrawaddy river during the withdrawal of our forces from Prome."

While the latest communiqué, describing fighting of 24 to 36 hours back, gave no hint of improvement in the defenders position in the air, there were definite reports that the situation was rapidly being remedied.

"Enormous quantities of first class planes" are pouring into India to bolster the United Nations defense of Burma, a Chinese military spokesman declared today as the ahead on the Irrawaddy river front.

The enemy was reported to be within 20 miles of Yenangyaung, where the nearest of the Burma oil fields was an immediate goal. Fifty miles beyond lay the rich oil deposits of Singu and Yenangyaung.

man positions, cutting off part of the Nazi supply lines, the Moscow radio said.

The mid-day communiqué reported no important changes on the front during the night.

New counter-attacks southwest of Moscow also were reported.

Nazis Use New Units

The Germans were said by the newspaper Pravda to be throwing in new units continually along the front in an attempt to hold their defensive positions and save encircled garrisons on various sectors. The Nazis also were said to have brought up hundred of additional planes in an attempt to gain air superiority.

The Moscow radio, however, quoted a Soviet brigade commander as saying he believed a Nazi spring offensive was "most unlikely" because of the quality of German troop reinforcements and equipment being sent in to fill gaps in the battered German lines.

Although the Germans are repeatedly pressing stubborn counter-attacks on the Bryansk front, southwest of Moscow, it was said, the Red army still retains the initiative and has forced the Nazis to retreat at several points.

Continue Murmansk Attacks

Hitler's legions apparently are continuing efforts to knock out the important Arctic port of Murmansk but are having little success according to the Russians. Thirty-six German bombers were said to have attempted to bomb the port last Wednesday but the formation was broken up by Soviet fighter craft.

Russian planes were said to have rained into three of the Nazi craft, forcing them to drop their bombs indiscriminately. The port was unscathed, it was said.

(Reports from Helsinki by way of Stockholm said that the Russians had launched heavy attacks against the Finnish lines on the northern front but that all the Soviet assaults were repulsed. The Finns claimed 2,600 Russians had been slain while their losses consisted of only 20.)

GEN MARSHALL IN BRITAIN

EVEN the layman, lacking definite information concerning military plans and developments, has sensed in a vague way during recent weeks the imminence of major events destined to shape the history of the present conflict. There has been a feeling, given substance by signs and by logic, that this summer will establish the course of the war; that, while its events may not be of a decisive character, they will at least initiate the trend which will in due time find final expression.

Among the observant there is a deepening conviction that before many weeks have passed an attempt will be made to open a new front in the West.

This will be one of the most difficult enterprises of military history, one which, under present circumstances, will make demands upon courage, skill and power comparable to those which would be required for an invasion of England from the Continent. But indications are that the attempt will be made.

They are to be found in the insistent demand by Litvinoff that such a distraction be provided for the benefit of hard-pressed Soviet forces and other developments.

Finally, the arrival of General Marshall, United States Chief of Staff, in London for discussions with Prime Minister Churchill may be interpreted as additional evidence that a blow is being prepared. The mere fact that such a trip has been made by General Marshall proves that the matter under consideration is of the highest importance. And the matter of most importance now is an offensive.

General Marshall's flight to London may be considered as the harbinger of momentous events, the opening of a new phase of the war which will throw the Continent into a fury of conflict. In the contemplation of this grim prospect it is possible to find a certain measure of comfort in the thought that this may be the war's final phase, the beginning of the end of a great ordeal.

RETURN TO PRE-METAL DAYS

With the War Production Board issuing prohibitions against the manufacture of metal articles such as hair clippers, slide fasteners and cigarette lighters—to list just a few of the ever-lengthening list—to conserve raw materials, the country is being reminded that as America mechanized it also metallized.

It was the railroad which introduced America to this era. At first rails were made of iron. The country was once criss-crossed with these metal strips. This suggested iron boats, and when it was found that they did not sink the nation went in for them with zest. Soon iron invaded other fields. Iron pumps took the place of wooden pumps just as, later, iron wheel barrows dislodged wooden ones. Metal in fencing superseded stone and split rail. The amount of wire strung on posts, many of them metal posts, is tremendous in the aggregate.

In the home the use of metal until recent years was limited. Cutlery and pots and pans in the kitchen accounted for most of it. Today every room in an American home can present metal objects, from furniture to door knobs.

DAYS OF WORRYING

There are a lot of people who are doing a lot of worrying these days. Some of it cannot be avoided, of course, but the following suggestions by Channing Pollock have a distinct value:

"If I might venture to recommend some remedies for 'juice-stewers,' I think my first choice would be: 'Mind your own business—and have plenty of it.' After that would come:

"Don't bite off more than you can chew.

"Tackle one job at a time."

"Make your decisions promptly, and don't fear the outcome.

"Learn to delegate part of your work and responsibility.

"Don't stake too much on success.

"Don't be afraid of failure.

"Don't overvalue the unattainable.

"Forget the people you don't like.

"Keep your sense of humor.

"And your sense of proportion.

"Forget yesterday. It's gone.

"Don't dread tomorrow. It isn't here yet."

WAR ECONOMY

In the old days of ease and affluence and relative freedom from care America was a land that found great pride in its gadgets. America led the world in automobiles and telephones and bath tubs, every home had its vacuum cleaner and its percolator. It was a land of mechanical egg beaters, radios for upstairs and down. There was even a time when the nation was on the threshold of the attainment of that perfect symbol of prosperity—two cars in every garage.

Now there is to be a change. War has laid its heavy hand upon the nation's industries and, upon the order of Donald M. Nelson, production of almost all consumer durable goods will halt within six weeks, while all non-essential construction, whether publicly or privately financed, has been stopped under an order issued by the War Production Board.

Mr. Nelson admits that these orders will eventually reduce the living standard of the country. The necessity of doing without certain conveniences and refinements that add a little ease and comfort to life hardly can be interpreted as involving a lower standard of living. A more serious aspect of the matter is the fact that some manufacturers and business men face severe losses.

Nevertheless, there is something inspiring and heartening in the knowledge that the United States is going on a full war economy basis, evidence that it intends to fight with all it has—every man, every ounce of material, every last measure of blood and courage—to win. When freedom has been preserved the wealth of mechanical comforts and conveniences will be returned.

Europe a few years ago was full of people who were more concerned about their material possessions than about their freedom—and the result, as Somerset Maugham points out, is that they promptly lost both. This is just one more of Europe's mistakes that American must not make.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FEEDING TOT TO PROTECT HEALTH

During the month of April, the National Tuberculosis association is putting on throughout the United States a campaign for early diagnosis of tuberculosis. As you know, this and similar local organizations are trying to educate all of us in ways of preventing this dread disease of discovering it early and treating it chiefly with the rest cure, especially in a sanatorium where rest in bed is assured and the patient is isolated from his family for their protection.

War Time Threat

Undernourished children are an easy prey to tuberculosis and war time threatens many American children with increased malnutrition. Thanks, however, to the wonderful program throughout our nation during the past few years, of providing wholesome meals for underprivileged children, many have been, and will continue to be, protected to this degree at least. Thanks also to good wages in defense areas, many families are having more money to spend on food than they had been accustomed to for years.

Another saving force in favor of good nourishment for children is the educational program throughout America put on among parents. These fine courses, which thousands take, teach mothers how to choose nutritious foods economically. Consequently, parents are growing conscious of what foods a growing child needs for his healthy physical development.

Causes Of Malnutrition

Malnutrition is not necessarily a matter of poverty. Some of the most undernourished youngsters are children of the well-to-do. Such children have abundant food but either this food is not wisely selected or the child won't eat what he should. More mothers, especially in the average and above-average income brackets, know what their children should eat better than those other mothers who succeed in getting their children to eat what is offered them. Few baby-specialists, indeed, do much more concerning this matter than to advise the mother what to feed the baby and young child.

What more than half the mothers of America need desperately is to learn the art of cultivating a healthy appetite in their children. To do this the fine civilian defense courses in nutrition would put more emphasis on this matter.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you justify ridicule or sarcasm in dealing with youth in high school?

A. No; nor at home nor elsewhere.

Q. At meal time we must search all over the neighborhood for our boy 12 years old.

A. Serve meals at regular times, if at all possible. Give him at watch. Tell him when to report for meals. For each delinquency let him have only bread and water. I do wish the fine civilian defense courses in nutrition would put more emphasis on this matter.

Q. When is a spanking effective in training the toddler not to run away?

A. When he gets it instantly and without exception as he crosses the clearly defined boundary to run away. Show him the tree, stone or crack in the walk beyond which he must not go. Always be on hand when he is near this boundary. The moment he crosses it spank him. So trained constantly over a period of several days he learns permanently not to cross the line though the trainer be a thousand miles away. After he has run away and is found punishment is too late to be effective.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ANOTHER RACKET

Just as in the depression racketeers and swindlers imposed on the sympathy of many for the less fortunate, today the same fakery are making a patriotic racket by taking advantage of other people's patriotism. Some are peddling tickets to benefit dinners or entertainments that are never held. Others are collecting money for coffee for air-raid wardens that never get it or for sending non-existent mercy ships to Norway. Slick promoters took $10,000 from Boston people by proposing to make a patriotic film to be called "God Bless America," and elsewhere others enriched themselves by selling, at Five Dollars each, worthless gas masks discarded from the first World War.

In one Texas city some of these swindlers afraid to use the mails or to face their victims in person, have made phone calls in which they made solicitations, without authorization, in the name of one or another patriotic or veterans' organization. The money has been called for by a messenger, who in some cases did not know he was being used in a swindle.

Common sense calls for the turning down of telephone solicitations unless they are from acquaintances or unless the money is to be paid directly to an established organization. A proposal for immediate collection by messenger should cause suspicion. Eradication of such rackets will be facilitated if suspicious solicitations are reported immediately to the police department.

War racketeers are Fifth Columnists who deserve no mercy.

Liquor May Be Rationed Before War Ends
Is Discussed In Capital As War Measure
Latin America Produces Variety Of Drink

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 13—Rationing alcoholic refreshments is beginning to be discussed as a war possibility. It's different from prohibition sentiment of which there's a little but not very much abroad in the land. This talk's from the saloon men themselves. The subject was gone into thoroughly by the National Alcoholic Beverage Control association at its recent annual conference in Chicago and now the whole trade's debating it.

Customers previously had been assured that there's enough whiskey in stock to last 'em for five years, but this seems to have been an overestimate, or maybe the country's been drinking faster of late than the dealers had expected. Some brands of the stuff, it was stated at the Chicago meeting, will play out in about six months and, if the world conflict continues, the raw material simply won't be available to produce any more. Imported goods won't be obtainable from the belligerent countries that we've relied on hitherto. If they're still making a bit of it, their capacities are so much reduced that they need all they've got right at home.

Besides, a good many bar flies don't care for whiskey exclusively. Some of 'em depend entirely on beer or want beer chasers, anyway. There also is a demand for predictable wine and purveyors predict a stiff increase in it, if harder liquor becomes scarce and the price of it, per slug, advances sharply. It's pretty expensive already, and quite a respectable hoot can be developed on a sufficient number of shots of a strongly fortified grape juice.

From South America?

The Latin American republics generally have the natural resources and more or less of the equipment for sizable outputs of intoxicating drinkables. Argentina and Chile notably concoct lots of just as good wine as Spain, Portugal or Italy, and charge just as much for it, too. They likewise distill high quality rye and corn and brew a medium of beer, though beer isn't particularly popular with natives in that part of the world.

One thing they specialize on is manufacture of a fluid known as "grappa," and perhaps they'll try to introduce it here. It takes a deal of training, however, to swallow a few noggins of it and continue to live. I understand it was invented in Italy but today it practically is Argentina's national drink. The grappa-maker first accumulates an enormous collection of grapes, which he skushes for wine. Then, left over, he has a vast quantity of skins, seeds and stems. From this garbage he distills his grappa. It's

It means that you will not get get pinched and tossed behind the barbed wire just for turning off your radio when some monkey with a tassel on his hat screams out of the loudspeaker.

It means that you are free.

And that's worth repeating—it means that you are free.

Background Of A Plan

WASHINGTON, April 13. IF Mr. Donald Nelson's highly publicized labor-management committees, launched six weeks ago, are failing to measure up to the ballyhoo about them, it is not because of any inherent unsoundness in the plan. The plan is all right; the trouble is in the way it was presented and is promoted.

It got off to a bad start. The original announcement was misunderstood by both management and labor. It alarmed the former and inflamed the latter. Aware that the labor lobby—who have been demanding a "larger voice in management"—are politically more influential with the Administration than any one else, and knowing that Mr. Nelson makes no move of this sort not first approved by the President and Harry Hopkins, industrialists generally feared the plan was a move in that direction. The left wing labor leaders regarded it as a step toward their goal of taking over the plants and lustily cheered Mr. Nelson for proposing it.

ALL of which forced the latter to make a speech explaining that this plan was neither what the industrialists feared nor the radicals hoped

Telephone Night Program Planned

Part That Telephone Is Taking In War Time Will Be Shown

TO DEMONSTRATE MANY DEVICES

A combat pilot in action works in a bedlam of noise—the drumfire of the guns, the roar of the motors, the whistling wail of the wind.

A radiotelephone transmitter, developed for air pilots shut out these sounds and the delicate microphone conveys only the messages of the pilot, directly from his vocal cords.

This special transmitter, which is strapped to a pilot's throat, was developed by the Bell Telephone laboratories and will be among numerous interesting exhibits at a "Calls to Victory" demonstration at the George Washington High school, Euclid avenue, Wednesday, April 15.

Starting at 8 p. m. and free to the public, the demonstration will include a motion picture showing the accomplishments of the Bell Telephone company in providing telephone service for the armed forces and for war industry. Arrangements for the evening's entertainment were made by Adrian D. Supple, manager for the Bell company.

Special equipment to be shown will include an army field telephone set used for communication between outposts and command posts, and equipment for artillerymen who usually receive firing directions from a point distant from the battery of guns.

An informative talk, in non-technical language will be given by Ralph A. Nixdorf, of the Bell general offices, Philadelphia, and Maurice S. Bulger of the company's Pittsburgh offices.

Mr. Supple will introduce to the audience Mrs. Clara D. Molesworth, chief operator, and Austin A. Webb, plant wire chief. Each will speak briefly of the activities of their departments.

Members of the audience will be able to test their own voices by means of a "microphone" also developed by the Bell laboratories, which is used extensively in voice training. They will see a rare magnetic alloy capable of lifting its own weight 112 times over and hear the heart-beat of a demonstrator, magnified through an electrical stethoscope which has proved invaluable to the medical profession.

Unemployment Compensation At Record Low Level

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—"Unemployment compensation payments a week ago reached the lowest level in over five months," according to a statement issued by Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines. "This decline in idle benefits indicates a corresponding employment increase which was general throughout the state, being further accentuated by pre-Easter employment in retail trades providing several weeks' work for thousands of unemployed persons."

"The Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation," Hines said, "disbursed only $272,612 to 23,736 jobless workers during the period which closed on April 4. These figures compared with the corresponding week one year ago reflect a fifty percent decrease in benefits and checks issued."

Hines continued, "while the employment trend swung upward, the number of jobless workers seeking idle insurance, quite naturally fell off. New applications totaled only 3,700 during the week, the smallest number filing with the bureau since early last September."

The bureau's fund balance suffered a slight decline to $232,255,000.

approximately the equivalent of wood alcohol. Catch a victim who doesn't realize what he's going up against, induce him to take a sizable gulp of that liquid, and if he doesn't have a fit instantly, he's proof against anything.

Nevertheless, it's possible to educate folk up to it by degrees. The Argentines think it's grand and dose visitors with it, out of sociability. As the war wages along, if our alcoholic famine becomes acute enough, perhaps we'll have to fall for grappa ultimately.

I'll say one thing in its favor. Darned little of it goes a long distance. It won't be bulky to import.

Presumably the Latin Americas will keep out of active participation in the current world strife. However long it continues, they'll still be in civilian production and fixed to supply us with all the non-essential edibles and drinkables we may holler for — though I'd call grappa violently poisonous rather than non-essential.

Containers A Problem

And they'll like our trade, of course.

It doesn't necessarily follow, though, that we shan't run into difficulties in the matter of serving drinks over our bars.

Drinks have to have containers to retail 'em in.

That's going to be a mean problem for the Latin Americans to solve. They can squeeze out grappa and similar stuff until they're black in the face, but they'll have to have bottles or tin cans or something to do their marketing in.

They're not adequately industrialized to provide 'em.

We've seen tin cans for beer go into the discard already. Bottles are likely to disappear next, as our little metal tubes for cosmetics are doing now.

The container item's a consideration that is worrying our saloon men at present. Thus far they have the drinks that their patrons call for, but a patron can't be directed to come on in and absorb his libation out of a sing or some such thing.

The container issue enters into the saloon keepers impending problem.

years old. It originated in the mind of Mr. Otto S. Beyer, Jr., who has been a member of the National Mediation Board since 1935 and is now one of the directors of defense transportation. Mr. Beyer is a consulting engineer and for many years has specialized on labor-management relations, on which subject he is a recognized authority. After his return from the last war, he evolved this idea and convinced William H. Johnson, former president of the International Association of Machinists, and Bert W. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees' Department, American Federation of Labor, of its soundness. The question was, could it be sold to the employer? Early in 1923 was agreed to present it first to Dr. Daniel Willard, then president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and now chairman of its board. The reason Mr. Willard was picked was because he was concededly the most open-minded railroad president in the country, as sympathetic to labor as he was understanding of labor unions.

WHEN it was laid before him, the first thing Mr. Willard said was "If this is a plan to Sovietize the road, I am against it one hundred percent." He was assured that no such thing was contemplated. Nor was it intended that these committees should touch such things as wages, prices, policies or hours of work. Management was not to abdicate any authority. All that was proposed was that management and labor should be brought into regular contact for conference and cooperation in their mutual interests. "All right," said Mr. Willard, "I am for it one hundred per cent." On that assurance, the first labor-management committee was started in the B. & O. shops at Pittsburgh.

IT worked at once and worked well, largely because on both sides there was not only desire but determination to make it work. There is not space here to go into the details of its development—to tell how the early difficulties were overcome; to describe the steady expansion over the system; to explain the character of the regular shop meetings and the quarterly regional meetings with the division heads, at which Mr. Willard himself sat in, though all that is a worth-while story. Probably the best way to present the picture is to give the figures from the records of the B. & O., made available by Mr. Roy B. White, who has succeeded Mr. Willard as president and is as strongly for the labor-management committees as his predecessor.

HERE they are—
Number meetings held 11,453
Average attendance at meetings 10
Suggestions received and discussed 31,821
Suggestions adopted 27,415
Percentage adopted to total proposed 82.2
Still under consideration 322
Postponed, expense not justified 1,188
Dropped, considered impractical 2,396
These figures represent the machine shops only. They do not include those of the traffic and maintenance departments, which add to the impressive totals and do not deviate from the pattern.

THE benefits to the men have been many, but in the removal of grievances, in the promotion of efficiency, in the creation of mutual interest, good will and understanding, officials of the B. & O. agree that the plan has been of inestimable value to the road. More than that—they agree it has been of actual cash value. In other words it has worked to the satisfaction of the corporation as well as the men. Neither would think of giving it up. After the B. & O. adopted the plan Mr. Beyer presented it to Sir Henry Thornton of the Canadian National and it has been equally successful on that road. It was rejected by the New York Central and no other American railroad has adopted it, but it has been installed in some 25 industrial plants throughout the country and is recognized generally as the outstanding example of successful labor-management cooperation.

IT does seem that if Mr. Nelson had made it clear that his plan was merely an adaptation of the Beyer plan which had been tested, tried out and successfully operated for 20 years, he would not have alarmed the plant managers nor unduly related the radicals. Nor would it be necessary to resort to the type of promotion campaign now being used—with slogan contests, suggestion boxes, cartoons, posters and other stunts—to instill zeal for the scheme and dissipate suspicion. It should have been explained before it was sprung.

East Brook Quartet Will Enter Contest

If the State Music and Forensic contest is held at Bloomsburg, Pa., on April 24 as planned, East Brook high school's mixed quartet, first place winners in the Edinboro contest last week-end, will compete. Members of the quartet are Joan Withers, soprano, Mildred Scotia, alto; Willard Patton, tenor, and Joe Sickafuse, bass. Their selections at Edinboro were "God So Loved the World" by John Stainer and "Old Colony Tunes" by Siegmeyer. The quartet will be accompanied by Bloomsburg by its instructor, Miss Marian Thompson. The boys' chorus of East Brook school won second place at Edinboro.

Morse Code Doomed For Telegraph Use

New Type Of Message-Sending Machine Has Been Developed

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—A new type of message-sending machine installed in the Philadelphia office of Postal Telegraph will eventually sound the death knell of the Morse code, according to Percy C. Durgin, superintendent. The machine, which was in the experimental stage for 10 years, sends messages almost 10 times as fast as the system generally in use at present, and does away with a great deal of manual work. This is especially important now because of the shortage of labor.

Under the old system, a branch operator sent the customers' message to the central office by teletype; it was passed on a blank and then relayed across the country to its destination.

The new operation consists of feeding a piece of perforated tape, on which the message is recorded, into a machine which transmits it directly to its goal.

Further details will be announced later. Individual committee meetings of the following committees were held: apostolic Catholic Truth, Eucharistic, Our Day's, publicity and social.

Members of the Union chose the committees to work on, and plans for future committees were discussed. Father Waterson led the group in prayer and the meeting was adjourned until later.

Tanker Damaged Off Brazil Coast

(International News Service) RIO DE JANEIRO, April 13.—A 7,000-ton American tanker was torpedoed off the coast of Brazil three days ago, it was officially announced today. Nineteen members of the crew of 37 were saved by American naval planes and landed at Camosim. Seven other survivors, it is indicated, have reached another port.

The tanker is still afloat and salvage measures are underway.

The only flag displayed above the American flag is the church flag, which is placed above the American flag when religious services are performed on a United States war vessel.

"Seven pound lead" used in plumbing, is a term to indicate a sheet lead of such thickness that one square foot would weight seven pounds.

City May Build New Structure

City Likely To Have To Move Equipment In Future

Council will decide this week, it was reported in council meeting in city hall today, whether or not to construct a new building to house the street department.

The indication came after council today agreed to the city renting the structure formerly occupied by the Westmoreland Chemical company at a rental of $37.50 monthly. The state banking department controls the structure. The building is near Mahoning avenue.

Safety Director D. O. Davies adopted the position that the city faces two problems: repair of the structure and the probability that the city, being on 30 days lease, may be forced to vacate at any time.

He said "at best the building will only be a patched-up affair."

Streets Director James Gibson asserted the city must have a place immediately to house equipment. A watchman now is employed to guard the place.

He said the city owns available ground in Taylor street.

It was also reported that only a portion of the present streets building on George street will be demolished. The rear portion will be left standing for use of a new industry.

Fourteen Navy Airmen Killed As Planes Crash

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Fourteen navy airmen were killed and a fifteenth was seriously injured when two navy PBV-5-A patrol bombers crashed in flames in the Livermore Hills east of the Alameda Naval Air Station on San Francisco Bay, a navy statement announced today.

Seven men died in each plane, the navy said. The eighth occupant of one bomber, a machinist's mate, first class, was the only survivor. He was found lying beside the burning wreckage.

The first plane smashed against a hillside on the Reuss ranch, seven miles northeast of Livermore, and the second piled up in flaming wreckage on the Graham Nissen ranch, six miles southeast of Livermore, apparently at nearly the same time yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Harold Hansen of Livermore said the burned bodies of eight of the victims were identified from personal effects.

The following casualties in the two crashes were announced by the Twelfth Naval District:

T. Frank S. Fernald, U. S. N.

Lt. Edward P. Denney.

James N. Wagner, aviation machinist's mate, first class.

Henry T. Morgan, aviation machinist's mate, second class.

Roscoe E. Rambo, aviation radio man, first class.

Robert A. Frank, radioman, second class.

Oliver P. Flynn, aviation chief machinist's mate.

Lt. Commr. Loren A. Morrin.

Charles J. Herriott, radioman, first class.

Algie Belcher, aviation machinist's mate, second class.

Robert W. Hatings, aviation chief radioman.

Benjamin P. Johnson, aviation radioman, first class.

The sole survivor was Earl P. Patrick, aviation machinist's mate, first class, who was treated for head injuries and lacerations and transferred to the Mare Island naval hospital.

Names of two other victims killed in one of the planes cannot be announced at this time, the navy said.

Pulaski Girls Injured In Crash

One In Youngstown Hospital With Serious Injuries As Result Of Collision

Miss Dorothy Gurtner, aged 17 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gurtner, of Pulaski, a student at Union township high school, is in St. Elizabeth's hospital, Youngstown, with concussion of the brain and other injuries, received in an automobile collision near Bernard Airport, on Route 422, just outside Youngstown, Saturday evening.

Her two sisters, Betty, aged 25, and Georgiana, aged 23, received lacerations.

They were in a car driven by Charles Hawes, of Lowellville, O., which was involved in a collision with a machine driven by Frank Penensky of Oak street, New Castle. Penensky, his wife Genevieve, Miss Sue Senansky of New Castle, and Thomas Smoich of Sharon, received minor injuries.

FIREMAN KNOCKED FROM ROOF

—Central Press Phonephoto

This dramatic photo was taken in Philadelphia just as Fireman Theodore Koschek toppled over the edge of the roof after he had been knocked off balance by the sudden surge of water through a hose line he was manning. He suffered serious injuries in the 30-foot fall to roof of an adjoining building. It was a two-alarm blaze.

Scrap Rubber To Be Collected

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—The advisory salvage committee of the state defense council today launched a campaign to collect scrap rubber that cannot be destroyed under a decree of the war production board.

Unless the tempo of collections is increased the board estimated the nation's reclaimed rubber stock pile would be exhausted within four months.

Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the committee, ordered local committees to push scrap rubber collection vigorously.

Types of rubber materials to be collected include: tires, tubes, boots, heels, overshoes, shoes, hot water bottles, gloves, bathing caps, raincoats, matting, hose, jar rings, fly swatters, stamps, pads, suction cups and industrial scrap rubber.

Kilgallen Finds Food On Warship Tasty, Plentiful

Soldiers Eat 1,000 Pounds Of Meat A Day; Consume 210 Loaves Bread Daily

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A U. S. MAN-O-WAR IN THE PACIFIC. (Delayed).—Our men of the navy fighting the rice-eating Japs in the Pacific, eat well—in fact, they eat robustly. The food on a U. S. warship is as good as that served in dining rooms of the first class hotels of any America city.

Our ship, ploughing its way through the war zone, has thirteen cooks, six bakers and two butchers. We need that many to serve slightly more than 1,000 officers and men. The men like their food, and like to talk about it. Whenever one of our ships bombs a Jap stronghold, our sailors pull this wisecrack: "I'll bet the fish heads and rice are flying a hundred feet in the air."

Food Is Tasty
Food on U. S. warships is served tastily, and with as much variety as can be found in any restaurant. All ships have excellent refrigerator systems which keep the food in good condition.

On our ship, I learned, we consume 210 two-pound loaves of bread a day; 1,000 pounds of meat a day (one pound per man); 100 pounds of butter a day; 80 dozens of eggs;

100 pounds of coffee a day; 200 pounds of milk (canned) a day and 45 gallons of ice cream a day.

Breakfast is ample, usually consisting of bacon and eggs and coffee; fruit or tomato juice; breakfast food or, by way of variety, a stack of wheat cakes. Meat, potatoes and dessert are served for luncheon and dinner.

A typical dinner menu follows: Soup, grilled beef steak, mashed potatoes, boiled lima beans, tomato sauce, bread, butter, coconut cake, ice cream and coffee.

The ship starts on a trip with 3,000 pounds of butter and 130 cases of eggs. Huge quantities of ice cream are made from powdered ice cream mix. There is a terrific demand for ice cream, especially when the ship is moving along not many degrees from the equator.

The store room carries big quantities of hydrated white potatoes, hydrated cabbage and hydrated onions.

East 200 Loaves Bread
The bakery turns out more than 200 loaves of bread a day and produces a wide variety of desserts. Pie is on the menu several times a week. It requires 175 pies to serve the crew.

The men eat at different places aboard ship. There is the cabin mess; the wardroom mess; the warrant officers' mess; the chief petty officers' mess and, in addition, the general mess.

Office dress in whites for dinner. None of the officers take their place at the tables until the executive officer puts in his appearance. No one leaves the table without first excusing himself to the executive officer.

For the crew a modified cafeteria system is in effect at present. It is planned to install a regular, modern cafeteria system, steam tables and all, the next time our ship goes to dry dock.

I've eaten in many restaurants in New York, famous for its eating establishments, and I'd say the food on our ship—away out here in the Pacific—is every bit as good as they dole out.

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, April 13.—Dorothy McElroy, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. McElroy, of 1606 Huron avenue, New Castle, is one of twelve seniors at Grove City College to be honored with election to "Scroll and Key." Nomination to the honor society is made by the faculty on the basis of outstanding scholastic achievement covering at least six semesters.

Miss McElroy is treasurer of Pi Gamma Mu; a member of the French and Science clubs, and has served on the staff of the "Collegian" college newspaper.

Other seniors to win election to "Scroll and Key" are: Dale Smock, Cochran; Donald Black, Mercer; Ralph Heffner, Oil City; Florence Dodds, West View, Pittsburgh; Alverton, Pa.; Donald Espey, Scottsdale; William Forshey, Jr., Butler; Margaret Hahn, Portage, Pa.; Thomas Shearer, Pittsburgh; James Stevenson, Grove City, and Arthur Suscy, Valley Stream, N. Y.

TWO ARE SLAIN IN ERIE HOME

Woman Is Also Badly Wounded In Tragedy Of Sunday Over Wedding Plans

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., April 13.—Mrs. Marian Toles, 56, of Bradford, lay seriously wounded while her son and the man she planned to marry in June were dead today, victims of the husband-to-be's anger over wedding plans.

Robert Toles, 21, the son, was shot through the heart as he tried to interfere after Albert J. Ziegler, 60, twice shot his mother at the Ziegler home in Erie early Sunday. Ziegler then shot himself above the heart, authorities reported. Deputy Coroner Frank St. George issued a verdict of murder and suicide.

Young Toles had been living with Ziegler for three weeks. Last Tuesday Mrs. Toles came to Erie. Ziegler and Mrs. Toles had planned to marry in June but became involved in an argument over the former's insistence that they wed immediately. The shooting followed.

Police said Ziegler fired two shots at Mrs. Toles, one fracturing her shoulder, the other wounding her in the abdomen.

HARLANSBURG

ENTERTAIN CLASS
Ruth and Bertha McCullough proved pleasing hostesses to about 15 members of the sophomore and junior classes of the high school on Friday evening at their home here. Games, music and social chat whiled away the evening, and at an appropriate hour lunch was served by Mrs. McCullough and daughters.

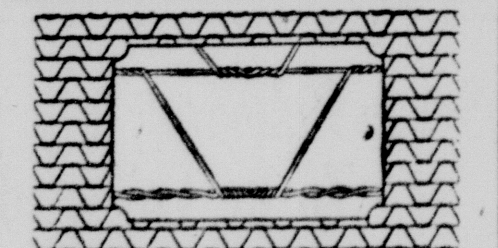

MOVED
William McFarland and family have moved from town to the hall residence, near the game farm. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Donley and daughter, Eleanor, have moved from Leesburg into their newly built home here, near the schoolhouse.

HARLANSBURG NOTES
Mrs. Harry Totman, of Cleveland, who has been spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Totman, has returned to her home. Glimmer Wimer is improving after being ill with a cold.

HER "first" DATE

THE real "sparkle" in a girl's life is made up of "firsts". At 6, it's her first hair bow... at 16, it's her first parlor beau. You mothers who remember—know that your daughter's first date is more than just a number on the calendar... it's her whole life and happiness suddenly packed into one momentous evening. Likewise, her first date is your cue to make your home beautiful—so beautiful that your daughter and her friends would rather be at home than any place on earth!

JUDGE LAMOREE SENTENCES
Four offenders were sentenced by Judge John G. Lamoree on Saturday morning. Judge W. Walter Brahm being in Philadelphia attending a meeting of the Procedural Rules Committee of the State Supreme Court of which he is a member.

Earl Mallory, of Ellwood City, was up on a charge of establishing a gambling house. Judge Lamoree fined him $350 and costs and gave him from two to four months in the county jail. He will be released in two months upon the payment of the fine and costs.

Joseph D. Palmer, unlawful possession of certain articles. Fined $150 and costs and sixty days to the county jail. Out in 15 days if the fine and costs are paid.

Finley E. Collingwood, operating a motor vehicle while suspension of his right to drive was on. Fined $100 and costs and given 30 days in the county jail. Out in ten days if the fine and costs are paid.

CORRIDOR SHAPING UP
With the plastering finished and the decorative wood moulding put in the corridor, the court house is shaping up nicely. The changes have given the corridor a new dignity.

LOCAL ENGINEERS
Hear McFetridge

Members of the Midwestern chapter of the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers met Saturday at Greenville with President William S. McFetridge, presiding. S. B. Schenck, special engineer of the Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad, delivered an interesting and informative talk on the development and uses of the Diesel engine.

Engineers Harvey Millholland, Glenn R. Throop and Leslie Wilson of New Castle attended the meeting.

Every Home Can Aid In Scrap Collection

So you think you haven't any scrap around your home? Better take another look neighbor and you'll likely find enough scrap to buy yourself a new hat, or a purse for the wife. It's amazing what scrap there is around every home and right now is the time to dig it out, turn it in, and have it made up into articles that can be shipped to Japan—bombs for instance.

What is scrap? Well, it isn't just those old rusty bits of wreckage you have in the cellar or the garage. Scrap means anything you are not using. Forget about that old action of saving things for seven years and they will be useful. Metal is mighty useful now in implementing the armed forces.

Let's take a look at your attic neighbor. Those old bridge lamps that catch dust every year have both steel and copper in them. There's an old hand iron your wife used before you put in electricity. Over in the corner is that old iron bedstead you slept on out in Slippery Rock township. Toss it out.

Now that old scooter Bub used back in 1928 isn't any good to you, neither is that old tricycle. And look, there's that little old iron stove you used but which has been lying idle for years. That's scrap, good scrap. There's a few broken tools, an old smoking stand, a couple of hammer heads and a shovel head, and down there under that pile of magazines is an old bird cage which used to house Sunny Jim, the canary bird that sang basso. That's excellent scrap. You'll never use that old lawn mower your husband has been trying to fix for the past seven years. Toss it out.

Plumbing supplies, spigots, door knobs, old lead pipe, all them have value. Down in your garage there are probably a number of articles you ought to get rid of. Worn out tire chains, old storage batteries, old parts of the car that have been replaced.

This is YOUR scrap. Perhaps you can't do a uniform but you can furnish the tools to those who do and selling your scrap is one way.

Remember you are not asked to give anything away. Pile your scrap up in the cellar or the garage or the back yard. An authorized scrap dealer will call for it, give you fifty cents a hundred pounds for it and get the scrap started back into the lifeblood of industry.

The scrap collection starts April 15 when Ellwood City will be cleaned up on that day and on April 16. On April 17 and 18 the other boroughs of the county will be visited by the scrap collectors, and on the week of April 20, New Castle will turn in its scrap. The week of April 27 the townships will be cleaned.

Get into the scrap with your scrap. Sell it to the scrap collector and buy war stamps or bonds. The time for scrap collection is now and remember, metal or rubber articles you can't use now you probably never will use. Scrap them so they can scrap the Japs.

Women Will Aid Scrap Collection

Women of New Castle are getting into this scrap. On Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a meeting was held called by Mrs. W. Keith McAfee, chairman of the Home Division of Scrap Collection in the Legion Home. At this meeting will be ward and precinct chairmen appointed and it is urged that all women interested in the scrap collection drive be present.

A meeting was held Saturday afternoon in the Elks club at which Ross D. Rosenberger, general chairman and Chester C. Sweeney, collection chairman outlined plans for the collection of scrap. Present were Mrs. McAfee and a number of her deputies.

Christian Endeavor Spring Convention

Lawrence County Union Meets Saturday At Plaingrove Presbyterian Church

Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union held its spring convention Saturday, April 11, at Plaingrove Presbyterian church. Registration for the convention was under the direction of Mrs. Walter Rogers of the host church and was followed at 3:30 o'clock by the afternoon session with Miss Ruth Garrity acting as chairman.

The convention theme was "Remembering Always For Christ and the Church." The session opened with a song service under the leadership of Miss Celia Noble, state literature superintendent, which closed with a hymn sung by the Misses Dorothy and Emma Jean Claypool and Miss Noble, all of Worthington.

"Are You Ready To Meet the Enemy" was the conference subject at 4 o'clock. This was divided into three topics, "Ready," "Aim" and "Fire," discussed by Rev. John Earl Myers, Jr., Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, Central Christian church, and Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, First Baptist church. The conference closed with prayer by Miss Garrity.

At 6 p. m., a patriotic banquet was served in the church dining room by the Ladies Missionary society of the host church. Rev. Edward Turen gave the invocation. The toastmaster, Walter Evans, was assisted by Theodore Pollock, song leader, and Leora McCommons, pianist. All state, district and county officers were introduced.

Edwin Gardner was chairman for the evening session. Roll call was followed by Miss Emma Patton, followed by the presentation of the banner and efficiency award by Mr. Tuten to the Rich Hill Presbyterian society.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Thelma Bumbaugh; first vice, Ruth Garrity; second vice, Kenneth Gaston; recording secretary, Emma Patton; corresponding secretary, Ruth Glenn; pastor counselor, Rev. Sidney K. Bliss; devotional leader, Roy Thompson; music, Chester Wilson and Walter Evans; Tenth Legion, David Price; Lookout, Kenneth Gaston; leadership, Rev. John Earl Myers, Jr.; Junior, Lois O'Neill; high school, Leora McCommons; publicity, Grace Kelly; literature, Walter Rogers; citizenship, Rev. Raymond Touvell; registrar, Louise Davies; extension, Edward Gardner; missionary, Ruth Garrity; director, missionary work, Alecia Montgomery; evangelism, Dale McCurdy; floating and welfare, Mary E. Norris; social activities and issues, Emma Patton; social and recreation, Irene Liversage.

Evening devotions were in charge of the Madison Avenue Christian society, followed by a drama, "The House on the Sand," presented by the Rich Hill Presbyterian society. The cast was as follows: Walter McConnell, Ruth Sholler, Charles Kirk, Alice Douglas, Kenneth Boyles, Edna Edwards, Carolyn Barkley and Louise Knight.

The convention was brought to a close with a candlelight installation service for the new officers, led by Harry Wilson, Western District president.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the convention included: Chairman, Walter Rogers, Plaingrove Presbyterian; Ruth Garrity, Central Christian; Walter McCommons, Rich Hill Presbyterian; and Lois O'Neill, Bessemer Presbyterian.

Shady Side Academy Now Part Of Pitt

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 13.—The old Shady Side Academy building and grounds, a three-and-one-half acre plot in the east end, were part of the University of Pittsburgh properties today, a gift from the family of the late Leon Falk.

Pitt had been leasing the buildings from the academy for the last two years, utilizing them for classes in engineering, science and management defense training while using the grounds for physical education and recreational activities.

REV. C. J. BURTON LEAVES ON TRIP

Rev. Charles J. Burton, St. Andrew's church, and Mrs. Burton left early this morning on a combined business and pleasure trip to Buffalo, N. Y., Jamestown, N. Y., and Canada.

While away, they will visit relatives. On the return trip they will attend a meeting of the department of Christian Education to be held in Trinity church, Warren, Pa., on Saturday, April 18, with Bishop Ward as special speaker. They will return home Saturday evening.

The wardens of the church, Jacob C. Hetrick and Thomas J. P. Evans, will be in charge while Mr. Burton is away.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 13.—Governor James received an unprecedented rebuke from the Republican-controlled Senate when it adopted a resolution calling for a legislative investigation of alleged inefficiency in the state government.

To make matters worse, the resolution was sponsored by a Democrat, Senator J. Albert Reed of Washington. Passage of the resolution was made possible by the support of several Republican senators. It was true that only a few G.O.P. senators went on record for an investigation of a Republican administration, but their votes were the decisive ones, creating a 17-17 tie that was broken by Lt.-Gov. Samuel S. Lewis, as presiding officer of the Senate. He voted for the resolution. Although the resolution was approved by the House also, it has no legal effect.

The lieutenant governor has been at odds with the governor. Usually regarded as an organization man, a follower of former Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Lewis surprised his colleagues in the Senate during his tenure of office. He became one of the most fair-minded and independent presiding officers the Senate had ever known. The Democratic minority often had points of order decided in his favor. Lewis made no effort to hide his disagreement with the governor. He denied also that he had ever been a Grundy follower. "I have always been an independent Republican," he said.

An attempt will be made in the next legislature to amend the constitution so as to prevent gubernatorial appointees who are rejected by the Senate from serving in office. Senator Howard I. James (R) Bucks predicts. James is chairman of the Senate committee on executive nominations. He admitted it was an unusual situation which permitted appointees of the governor to serve after being rejected for confirmation and expressed the opinion that the next legislature would take action.

However, in the next breath, he admitted that this prohibition could be easily circumvented by the simple expedient of not having the nominations reported out by the Senate committee for confirmation.

A prime example of that is the way the nomination of Motor Police Commissioner Lynn G. Adams has been handled. Unable to secure sufficient votes for confirmation, the Republican-controlled committee has refrained from reporting his nomination out. As a result he continues in office by the simple expedient of an interim appointment from Governor James when the legislature adjourns.

That a five dollar fee should be charged to help diminish the flow of resolutions introduced in the House was suggested by Rep. Kenneth G. Haines (R) Centre. The Rebersburg school teacher said inconsequential resolutions should be accompanied by a fee or donation. That would help reduce the printing costs. The proposition bogged down, however, in a torrent of humorous discussion. Haines finally asked that his remarks be stricken from the record—"to save the cost of printing," he explained.

Five Boys Escape From Morganza

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 13.—Police today were hunting four of the five youths who early yesterday escaped from the Pennsylvania training school at Morganza after stealing a car.

Dr. E. Preston Sharp, superintendent, who said that the officer in charge of the boys at the time of their escape has resigned, listed the fugitives as Elmer Zajawowski, 18; Richard Ofenbach, 18; and Eugene Gollat, 17, all of Pittsburgh; George Kopacka, 19, Uniontown; and Harry Myers, 18, address not given. A fifth youth was returned. His identity was not revealed.

BITTEN BY DOG

Naomi Kley, aged 13 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kley of 209 Crawford avenue, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock for a laceration of the arm. The child was playing in the yard at her home when she was bitten by a neighbor's dog.

News Briefs From City Hall

Autos owned by W. L. Ringer, L. S. & T. company building and Percy J. Fink, South Jefferson street, which were reportedly stolen during the week-end were recovered by city police. The former was taken from an uptown parking lot and found in South Jefferson street. The car owned by Fink was stolen from South Jefferson street and found near the steel mill site.

Window in the Markowitz business place at 20 East Long avenue was found by police to have been broken some time early this morning.

According to a report at police headquarters, a car bearing state license 842F1 and one driven by Steve Orlando, West Wabash avenue, figured in an accident in Denver avenue last night.

William and John R. Trent, and Charles Weiss, youths, the former two of North Mercer street and the latter of North Mill street, were taken into custody Sunday for shooting a powerful airgun and 22 calibre rifle along The Narrows. A forfeit of $25.00, was placed for each for a hearing today. None appeared and the cash bonds were declared forfeited by Mayor Charles B. Mayne.

St. Margaret's
To Purchase Flag

New American Flag Will Replace Old One At St. Margaret's Society In Ward

Unanimous action was taken at St. Margaret's Society meeting, held Sunday afternoon, to purchase a new American flag which will be placed in the club rooms, North Liberty street. The old flag, well worn with use, will be put away and saved, it being the flag in use since the charter of the society.

A fair crowd attended the meeting, which started at 2:30 o'clock, and President Bartolomeo Lombardo announced plans for a "sofrito" supper to be held on May 9. Committees for this event will be announced later.

Honoring the men of St. Margaret's Society, who are serving in the armed forces of our country, a service flag will be purchased by the society and a star will be placed on the flag for each boy now in service, and for those who will leave in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas
Here In Two Weeks

Since Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Barnes, 607 West Clayton street, received an air mail post card early last week from the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas, newly arrived from Australia in San Francisco, Mrs. Thomas' sister, Mrs. Q. E. Davey of North Cedar street, has received a letter from them.

Mrs. Thomas stated that Tuesday night, April 7, was the first light they had at night since leaving Singapore on December 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas had to leave the city with practically nothing but what they wore, and Mr. Thomas' white sun hat attracted much attention in San Francisco, worn until he purchased a felt hat. Mr. Thomas had no top coat and he felt the evenings very cool.

Thursday the Thomases expect to arrive at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., where they will undergo a checkup, and hope to be here in about two weeks.

Many Bills Are Up To Governor

Long List Of Measures Passed By Legislature Awaiting Action

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 13.—Gov. Arthur H. James today was faced with the task of approving or vetoing a long list of measures passed by the legislature during the seven-week special session. Awaiting action are bills to:

Permit relief recipients to earn up to $150 annually to meet increased living costs without having the amount deducted from state benefits; allow motorists to carry only one license plate for the duration of the war; authorize the state labor relations board to appeal adverse decisions to the state supreme court; boost unemployment compensation benefits from a minimum of $7.50 to $8 and a maximum of $15 to $18 weekly, reduce the waiting period from three to two weeks and extend the benefit period from 13 to 16 weeks; provide penalties up to $10,000 and imprisonment for sabotage, including intentionally defective workmanship on war work.

Limit payments to dependents of state employees serving with the armed forces; permit the state defense council to enforce blackouts, and air raid regulations; appropriate $100,000 for maintenance of the state's maritime school; prohibit licensing of farm wagons during the war; establish a joint legislative committee to study partial unemployment compensation payments; permit building and loan companies to sell defense bonds and stamps; issue free birth certificates to dependents of nurses, soldiers, marines and sailors who lost their lives during wartime; validate defense expenditures of local governments; allow the state game commission to change hunting hours; authorize the Department of Highways to repair or construct bridges in third-class cities; permit the leasing of commonwealth-owned land to the federal government for airfields; allow loading of explosives and ammunition in the Delaware river under certain conditions; guard the retirement privileges of commonwealth and school employees serving in the armed forces.

Allow state-aided hospitals to continue to receive state subsidies although unable to maintain the prescribed number of internes and physicians; reduce the period for obtaining osteopathy's degrees; provide for the disposal of lead type valued at approximately $60,000 stored at the state capitol.

Legislation already approved by Governor James were bills to:

Reduce the commonwealth's congressional districts from 34 to 33; appropriate $397,188 for session expenses; suspend for the duration of the war a uniform traffic system for the commonwealth that was to have become effective January 1; extend the period for filing special election petitions; permit the appointments of substitute fiduciaries when the initial beneficiaries have been inducted into the armed services; suspend structural requirements for school buses for the duration of the war.

St. Vitus Sodality
To Attend Rally

Sodalists Rally To Be Conducted In St. Rita's Church, Pittsburgh, May 10

Plans to attend the Sodalists rally at St. Rita's church, Pittsburgh, were discussed at the meeting of Our Lady's Sodality held in the convent of St. Vitus church recently.

Sister Hildegard was in charge, and prayer and hymn opened the session. The rally will be held on May 10 and Mother Superior and Sister Hildegard will also attend.

Two meetings a month will be held the first and last Fridays of the month. The first a business meeting and the second a social meeting. Proceeds from the latter will be used to start a library for the Sodality.

Plans for a Mother's Day program are under way, with Frances Corio as chairman, aided by a committee. The girls will receive communion in a body with their mothers on that day. Several new members were received.

Special guests were Mary Gallo, prefect of St. Lawrence Sodality, Madisonville; Bernice Cwynar of the Madonna church, who also offered piano selections, and Nellie M. diate.

SOWERSBY HONORED

Francis E. Sowersby of this city, was elected secretary of the North-western Pennsylvania Chapter of the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants, at its organization meeting in Franklin, Friday.

SOME GOOD NEWS ON PRODUCTION FRONT

(International News Service) More powder—distillers pledged themselves to immediately produce 750,000 gallons of industrial alcohol for conversion into smokeless powder.

More steel—March and first quarter shipments of finished steel products by U. S. Steel corporation subsidiaries set new high records.

And more steel—Production of 6,473 tons of steel slabs for ship construction set a new 24-hour production world's record at the Cleveland plant of Republic Steel. And 6,028 tons of the steel were immediately shipped.

More ships—Another navy destroyer, the Chevalier, was in Atlantic waters today after launching at Bath, Maine.

More thrills—Donald M. Nelson asserted that March production figures for war goods are thrilling Washington.

More aid—Small business with ability but no funds to swing war contracts could borrow today with the backing of army, navy or maritime commission as the Federal Reserve Board set up machinery to carry out President Roosevelt's executive order of March 26.

More ships—Another minesweeper was ready for launching at Greenport, L. I.—the tenth completed under a 12-ship contract.

Territorial Staff Band Of Salvation Army Presents Concert At Cathedral

Over a thousand people were present Saturday evening at the splendid band concert given in the Cathedral by the territorial staff band of the Salvation Army, with headquarters in New York City.

They presented a varied program of sacred and secular music, both by the band and the chorus, composed of the members of the band, proving their versatility.

This band, which has been organized for a half century, is composed of highly trained musicians, who have appeared in England and Canada, in addition to many points in this country, and the people of New Castle were fortunate in being able to have them here.

Briefer William Harris, divisional commander for Western Pennsylvania, pronounced the invocation, after which the band leader, Col. Norman Marshall, chief secretary for the eastern territory, was introduced by Postmaster William R. Hanna, who took charge of the program.

Bandmaster George Granger then directed the musicians through a program of difficult selections, which were greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

Special numbers included bass solos by Envoys Frank Fowler, cornet numbers by Bandsman Fred Parrar, and trombone solos by Adjutant Kenneth Ayes.

Capt. Carl Andreasen, who was responsible for the appearance of this splendid musical organization, expressed his thanks for the fine cooperation of the citizens of the community.

Nelson-Hogan Tied; Titan Mitt Show Play-Off Today For Masters Golf Crown

Texans Tied With 280
Apiece; Runyan Third
And Sam Byrd Fourth

TOURNEY WINDUP IS MOVIE-LIKE

By LAWTON CARVER

NATIONAL GOLF CLUB. Augusta, Ga., April 13.—No golf tournament ever ran more true to form—perhaps none ever will again. That's what they were saying today as two greats from deep in the heart of Texas—Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan—went out on an 18-hole play-off of the master's championship for the top purse of $1,500.

Before this ninth annual battle for what amounts to the open championship in this war year ever started everybody knew that Nelson or Hogan must win. If not one of them, then Sam Snead, and they knew, too, that the record of 279 for the boys fresh from the winter tour were particularly hot this year.

Snead Blows Up. Nelson and Hogan tied, Snead blew up—strictly in keeping with form—and the deadlocking score of 280 was within a single stroke of Ralph Guldahl's record-setting 279 of 1939.

Strictly according to form also was the way Nelson and Hogan finished, figuratively grabbing at each other's throats through a scorching battle that left a Georgia gallery of 8,000 schooled in the Jones tradition fairly berserk.

The tournament, as a matter of fact, has been all Nelson and Hogan from the outset one way and another, except for the brief flurry made by Sam Byrd, a former major league, however, wound-up hunting.

Thus Nelson with rounds of 68, 67, 72, 73 and Hogan with 73, 70, 67, 70 finished all even, with Paul Runyan back in third place, 283, followed by Byrd, 285; Horton Smith, 287; Jimmy Demarest, 290; and the rest, who never figured at all.

Snead Par In Nose. The deadlocked Texans took eight strokes off the 72-hole par of 288, or 72 per round, and as will be noted had just one round each on which they went over par, each, likewise, doing it by one stroke, or in 73.

The biggest difference between their playing also is obvious from the cold figures—Nelson shot his best golf early, to tie the record with 135 for the first 36 holes, while Hogan saved his for that moment when he would be called upon to put on the pressure. That's what he did yesterday on those final 18 holes with a finish out of the story-books as he came down the trail toward his first major title although he has been leading money-winner on the gypsy trail for three years.

He didn't shoot yesterday. He fired, always fired for that pin to complete one of the games, toughest comebacks of these times. After the first 36 holes he trailed Nelson by eight strokes and cut five of those off on Saturday, leaving him three down as they started yesterday.

With only two birdies and four buzzards to the turn, for a 38, while Hogan was playing even par 36.

Nelson lost one of those strokes. In fact, Hogan had pulled up even on the eighth, but Nelson moved ahead again on the ninth with a 25-foot putt for a bird.

The climax came on the last two holes. Hogan played a par four on the 17th—or the 71st hole of the tournament—then boldly slammed his second three feet from the pin on the 18th to bag a birdie. Nelson, playing just four strokes behind Hogan, knew all about that when he took a buzzard five on the 17th, and he knew going to the 18th that he had to have a final par to tie the man who was scarcely in sight just earlier in the tournament.

Nelson here matched Hogan's earlier boldness—Texas against Texas—but sliced off the tee with what was meant to be a terrific drive, and had to be good on his second or it was all over. From a depression in the rough, with a tall Georgia pine almost between him and the green and with the 8,000 lined up into a narrow alley, he slammed the pin, missed his putt—a bold one downhill that was hole high—by mere inches, then deadlocked it.

The whole story of the tournament was Nelson's record-tying early shooting, Hogan's comeback—and those two final holes yesterday.

Seek Baseball Stars Among High Schools

Major League Scouts In Many Scholastic Diamond Grandstands

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 13.—Those scouts, caught in the act of poling their spectacles in high school baseball grandstands this spring stood revealed today as big league baseball scouts.

Despite the fact that President Roosevelt gave organized baseball the green light several months ago the major leagues are making no Masonic secret of the fact that college scouts provide a hot house for future big league material. They realize that Uncle Sam will have first call on the business of recruiting outstanding athletes from the college fields.

So, with the idea of going beyond the college area, some scouts can be found attending high school baseball games rather religiously. As the 1942 season gets under way colleges seem destined to have the poorest representation in the Major League in years. Although the war unquestionably riddled the college baseball lineups, the feeling exists that war or no war, none of this year's crop of graduates could match the feats of George Sisler who walked from the Michigan campus to the St. Louis Browns' diamond or when Frankie Frisch graduated from the Fordham to the Giants' roster without missing a time at bat.

However, the war alone cannot be blamed for the dearth of baseball stars on college diamonds. Perhaps the colleges are to blame as they make no secret of the fact that baseball is a luxury they can ill afford. Baseball has put a lot of colleges on the red side of the ledger, but universities manage to balance their books with the proceeds from football and basketball.

New Castle Bowlers Second In Tourney

Competing with the cream of female bowlers in western Pennsylvania, the Gerson Girls team, composed of New Castle bowlers, captured second prize in a Pittsburgh tourney staged Saturday and Sunday.

The localites finished second in the team event. Mrs. Louise Kafferty laced among the winners in the singles while Mrs. Laura Miles and Mrs. Ruth Anderson graced the prize winning list in the doubles.

Next Sunday, the local women will journey to the Schenley Hotel where they will receive their awards.

JACKSONVILLE.—George Earnshaw, former Philadelphia Athletic pitcher, is lieutenant at the Naval Air Station here.

WRESTLERS ALSO SHARE PROGRAM

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 13.—

Westminster college's benefit amateur boxing show, held Saturday night in the gymnasium to raise money for Titan students in the armed forces, netted a neat profit of $125.00.

Approximately 800 cheering spectators assembled for the initial mitt slinging party ever sponsored in the New Wilmington institution. The gallery was rewarded with an exceptionally thrill-packed program.

Baxter Wins. New Castle's popular 160 pounder, fatted his winning list at the expense of another hometown, Halbert Brooks. Russ laced the colored batter in the first round, 2:20 of the heat to be exact.

John Gardner and Pete Carey, 155-pound New Castle natives, staged a fast three-reeler, Gardner emerging with the duke.

Another New Castle favorite, "The Canoe Kid," punched his way to a decision over George Gardner, also of New Castle.

Cheryl, a Westminster student, lost the nod to "Tip" McGee of Youngstown in a crowd pleasing bout.

Almyer Girdwood of Gibsonia was handed the decision over "Baby Face" Leisure of New Castle in a 135-pound session.

Art Weatherwax, a McKeesport product, saved a decision over Jim Edwards of Crafton, in a 150-pound affair.

Jim Caruso of Genshaw was a technical knockout winner over Jack "Conn" Neville of McKees Rocks, in 1:48 of the third round. Referee John Dean halted the event after an arm injury suffered by Neville. They fought in the 155-pound division.

Wrestlers Perform. For a chance of pace, a pair of heavyweights, scaling about 215, gave a wrestling exhibition. "Pinky" Wygant of Franklin and "Porky" Kusek of Monessen were the participants.

Art Weatherwax, a McKeesport product, saved a decision over Jim Edwards of Crafton, in a 150-pound affair.

Staff Sgt. John Dean, officer in charge of the United States Marine recruiting office in New Castle, served as referee. Dr. William George and David Boyd, both of New Wilmington, served as judges.

A worthy enterprise was sponsored by student council.

Sportsmen Gather Tuesday Evening

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association meets on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Veterans of Foreign War hall, East Washington street.

An important project, of vital interest to all sportsmen, will be discussed. H. N. Drio, secretary, announced.

In addition, a film, depicting scenes of interest to trout fishermen, will be shown.

TORONTO WHIPS

RED WINGS, 3-1

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 13.—Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, today indefinitely suspended Jack Adams, manager of the Detroit Red Wings currently engaged in the Stanley cup playoffs with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

And at the same time, Calder fined Eddie Wares and Don Grosso, two Detroit players, $100 for participating in a fight which flared on Olympia ice last night as the Red Wings dropped a 4 to 3 decision to the Leafs.

It was announced, meanwhile, that Eddie Goodfellow, Red Wing coach, would direct the Wings when they resume the series at Toronto Tuesday. The series now stands 3 to 1 in favor of Detroit.

TWINS PHYSICALLY

Robert Repass and William Hitchcock, who will be the regular shortstops this season, respectively for the Washington Nationals and Detroit Tigers, are physical "twins" at 6 feet 1 inch and 185 pounds. Both rookies, they make the biggest pair of new short fielders the American League has come up with in several seasons.

NATS TOP PHILS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—Manager Hans Lobert's Phils returned to Philadelphia today for a brief practice session at Shibe park in preparation for the opening game of the season tomorrow at Boston with the Braves. The Phils dropped their final practice game with the Washington Senators yesterday, 4 to 2.

FLORIDA FAVORED

The shift of the Boston Braves and St. Louis Browns back to Florida for spring training this year brings the number of major league clubs training there to 12. Boston went to Sanford and St. Louis to Deland.

FAIR OR FOUL

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13.—

Samuel Jackson Snead, the walking, talking, club-swinging enigma, was dissecting his career piece by piece much as any man might who constantly is confronted by frustration, and he came to the conclusion that by some perverse quirk of the golfing gods he always has to get his tough breaks on the big time.

That's not an alibi. The gent from Virginia with one of the greatest swings that ever whipped par can convince you by recounting those terribly important misadventures that he has encountered on so many fairways since he came out of the hills mailed as the successor to Jones.

Among Favorites. In nearly every tournament he is among the favorites just as he was here in the masters. Then in every tournament—the major ones—something happens. Either he starts off badly and doesn't get anywhere or he starts great only to be whipped down near the finish.

Sometimes he simply blows up. "I just don't know what it is," he said like a man who has gone to his cash register and found it empty after a big day's business. "But that's the way it always goes. Either my back hurts or conditions are bad or somebody gets hot against me in these big ones. In the lesser tournaments I'm all right."

Snead was speaking specifically for the time being of his aching back 78 of Thursday, after which he bounced in there with a 69. But it's too late now.

Being too late, however, is nothing new to him. Back in 1938 at Shawnee, Pa., he was too late from beginning to end against Paul Runyan in the professional finals and lost 8 and 7.

"The answer to that is one thing," Snead explained. "I will be using an eight against his brassie all the way around, but from 150 yards off the green to the hole he is as tough as anybody and I wasn't putting. He is a great putter all the time."

Against Byron Nelson at Hershey, Pa., two years ago Snead played one of his finest rounds of golf and was within a half dozen shots of the professional title, only to be overhauled one down, by a combination of a little luck and tremendous skill and tenacity on the part of Nelson.

His Famous Blowup. He has led in the open times innumerable. The highlight of his erratic career in that event being the now famous blowup of his on the last two holes at Philadelphia two years ago. All he had to do was shut his eyes and swing on his way to the clubhouse with the title and, instead, he all but buried himself in a trap with wasted strokes and with it blew it all.

Those are only a few of the more important highlights. There are dozens of others, all on the big time where a ball was kicked in the wrong direction at a critical moment for him, or some opponent has made an impossible recovery or holed out from so many feet that he almost should have used a driver.

By this time Snead is a little weary of it all, but not disconsolate. He figures he is a better golfer now in many ways than he ever has been, and he thinks he will get some of the big ones yet.

"I'm tournament tough, if he could only get lucky with all his other equipment."

And who are the toughest men right now?

"Their records speak for themselves," Snead said. "You have to say it Nelson and Hogan—they're different, yet the hardest men to beat."

When Nelson is going great you haven't got much of a chance with him, but he occasionally will let you up with an off round. Hogan is always tough because no matter where he stands he never eases up. That may burn him out, but it doesn't help his opponent any right now.

All of which brings up to date the man who might win them all but somehow never does, including this one, in which he was one of the hot favorites until he started shooting.

GENARO-BAXTER FIGHT APRIL 20

Rival Middleweights To Engage In Delayed Bout
Next Week

Frankie Genaro, heavy-hitting middleweight of Youngstown is coming to this city next Monday night hoping to beat Lawrence county's middleweight champion, Russell Baxter. They were scheduled to fight last month but Genaro injured a hand and was refused permission the night of the fight to enter the ring. The local fighter is tunking up and hopes to settle the question of superiority for all time one week hence.

Six of the other eight bouts scheduled are as follows:

Joe Biro, Youngstown vs. Billy Reale, city, return heavyweight fight. Reale won a fast fight from Biro a few weeks ago.

Tommy Brockman, Warren vs. Bell floored Baxter and on the decision over the county champion several weeks ago.

Johnny Gardner, city vs. Al Packard, Youngstown, 142.

Bobby Timpon, Youngstown vs. Moe Harvey, Warren, 118. Timpon put on a splendid fight here a few weeks ago.

Jimmie Saunders, Warren vs. Bobby Timpon, Youngstown.

Paul Skyes, coach of basketball in the Durham, N. C., High school, has a record of 286 won in 291 games in 15 seasons.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Monday's sportsreel:

Taggart stadium's lighting plant will undergo repairs. The poles which support the electric shades and bulbs, will be shortened for the top about six or eight feet. Fear that the wooden shafts have been weakened by spikes worn by electricians in climbing up and down the poles has caused officials to take the measure and thus play the safe way.

With the trout season hours away, H. N. Drio, secretary of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association, reminds anglers to refrain from fishing in any stream between 5 p. m. Tuesday and 5 a. m. Wednesday. The personable executive says that county brooks are well stocked. Some of the beauties measure 16 inches.

Even if his Athletics fail to win the American ribbon, Connie Mack can boast of having the tallest shortstop in the majors, if he wishes. The infielder is Jack Wall, ascended from Wilmington, who stands close to six feet four. . . . I don't think Alexis Thompson wants any part of tennis from here. The sportsman, who bankrolled that pro tour which laid a rotten egg, has good reason. He dropped about $25,000.

Stuff and things short and sweet: Sam West, Chicago White Sox outfielder, has been in baseball 19 years. He's 37. . . . The Professional Golf association in England closes bulletins sent to members with "Happy Hunting." . . . Bobby Jones won 13 titles before he retired from competitive golfing.

Pa., two years ago Snead played one of his finest rounds of golf and was within a half dozen shots of the professional title, only to be overhauled one down, by a combination of a little luck and tremendous skill and tenacity on the part of Nelson.

The word around town is that if Harry Bums can trim his Abe Simons' sails in a hurry when he meets on the 27th of this month, he might replace the New Yorker as the other half of Mike Jacoby's benefit show in Washington next month. . . . Currently, Simon is booked to meet Lou Nova there.

Joe Peralta, who has been fighting out of Tampa of late, risks his record of never being defeated by a Pennsylvania competitor when he tangles with Bob Montgomery in Philadelphia on the 20th. Montgomery's trip to the post will be his first since he dropped the duke to Sammy Angott in Cohan some time ago.

To Sell Stamps At Forbes Field

Carnegie's Revitalized Plan
Gets Backing; Bobo Vs.
Simon On 27th

By DICK SHANER

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—Odds and ends from the scrap book: To spur the sale of defense stamps, one of the concessionaries at Forbes field came up with a brilliant idea that may catch on and be put into effect at other major league parks, in which the Orioles sang their familiar swan song to youthful hopes, high in the Magnolia trees, open their home season here, Uncle Sam, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, tall hat, white whiskers and everything, will walk through the bleachers. . . . His chief item of merchandise will be, naturally, defense stamps. . . . The concessionaire thought it might mean a few less in hot dogs and pop from his sales, but that in the long run, he would be helping to do his part for the country.

State Speeds Defense Work

Pennsylvanians Intensify Training Program For Any Emergency

NOW PREPARED FOR AIR ATTACKS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—Intensification of the training program for Pennsylvania's growing army of civilian defense volunteers stands out among new developments today as the state's 300 councils of defense speed their efforts on many fronts.

The training program, in which approximately 300,000 Pennsylvanians already are enrolled as candidates for 15 different air raid protective corps, gathered headway with the release of a 100-page instruction manual for basic courses.

The new manual, prepared by the state council of defense, will provide instructors with authoritative training material on fire and gas defense, and general organization for all 15 corps, which ultimately will total more than 700,000 members in Pennsylvania. The manual is being sent out in quantity to county directors of civilian defense schools in all counties.

Meanwhile, Dr. Fred W. Hosler, chief of training for the state council of defense, announced that basic training for air raid wardens and auxiliary firemen, the two largest of the 15 corps, is nearing completion in most counties. Armbands and identification cards are awarded for basic training, after which the volunteers are given specialized training and drills.

Developments on other fronts included:

Control Centers—Harrisburg and Lancaster have completed their control centers and have trained special volunteer staffs to handle messages, map-plotting and other duties connected with the dispatch of protective corps during air raids. Sites and telephone connections have been completed for control centers in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Allentown, Reading, York, Easton, Bethlehem, Altoona, Johnstown, and Erie. Preliminary plans have been made in Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

Victory Gardens—Special victory garden centers have been set up in a number of communities to enroll victory gardeners, give them directions on planting and garden locations, and arrange for community garden ventures. Enrollment of victory gardeners was reported by Mrs. H. B. Allison, chairman of the advisory victory garden committee of the state council of defense, to be going forward briskly as the season for planting early vegetables arrived.

Salvage Program—Newly-organized salvage committees of Pennsylvania's 67 counties have either held or laid final plans for individual county salvage weeks to emphasize the long-term program for collection of waste materials. The advisory salvage committee of the state council of defense, in line with its expanding program, announced the opening of a branch office in Philadelphia in cooperation with the Philadelphia council of defense. County salvage committee chairmen have been supplied with forms to report results of the salvage weeks.

Blackouts—A five-county test blackout has been approved for Northumberland, Union, Snyder and Columbia counties for next Saturday, April 11. Other practice blackouts scheduled during the week include: Altoona, April 6; Cameron County, April 7; and Schuylkill County, April 12.

Coeds Like To Play Poker Too

One Of Man's Last Sanctions May Soon Be Taken Away From Him

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 13.—Not only in war industries are women invading men's fields, but if girls have their way, stag poker parties may be a thing of the past.

According to a personality test given to 520 college students from five universities, coeds like to play poker, see horse races, and engage in political campaigns just as much as men students do.

Dr. Clifford R. Adams, assistant professor of psychology at the Pennsylvania State College, obtained these results in measuring masculine and feminine traits by means of the personal audit, a test devised by him and Dr. W. M. Lopley.

Men students, on the other hand, seem to be as movie-struck as the girls. At least they have just as much desire to act in movies, the test revealed. Both men and girls would like to perform on the radio, and both enjoy golf and bridge.

Guard Against Forest Fires In State Is Warning

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—Geo. H. Wirt, Chief Forest Fire Warden of the Department of Forest and Waters, warned today that Pennsylvania is threatened with the worst season for forest fires in several years. A few fires have occurred already and damaged timber which is of vital importance to the Nation's war effort.

Fires should not be started out-of-doors without the very best of reasons, Mr. Wirt states that the maintenance of continuous production of wood and other forest products is essential to the prosecution of the war. Most of the war industries, the training of our armed forces, the shipment of food and supplies, and equipment to the fighting fronts are dependent in no small way upon uninterrupted production of wood in raw and fabricated forms.

It is estimated that the wood requirements for each man in the armed forces of the United States are 5,000 board feet of lumber. The lumber used for crating a large bomber that is to be shipped abroad would build a five room house. It requires 1,000 carloads of lumber to build an army camp.

Every one can perform a patriotic service in the prevention and prompt extinction of forest fires in Pennsylvania, Mr. Wirt points out that the act of starting fires in the face of high winds is little less than criminal negligence. Every forest fire results in damage and loss not only to the owner but to the State and Nation.
